JANESVILLE, SATURDAY, MARCH 1.
THE WONDER OF HUMAN MECHANISM.

In discussing the wonders of human mechanism in the Popular Science Monthly, Mr. James Paget says he once heard Mr. Janot play a presto by Mendelssohn, in which she played 5,505 notes in four minutes and three seconds. Every one of these notes involved certain movement of a finger at least two, and many of them involved an additional movement laterally as well as those up and down. They also involved repeated movements of the wrists, elbows, and arms, altogether probably not less than one movement for each note. Therefore, there were three distinct movements for each note, or 16,515, and all performed in four and a third second.

To further show the wonderfulness of human mechanism, the Popular Science Monthly goes on to say in substance that there were in the playing of Mr. Janot's—

Twenty-four notes per second, and each of these notes involved three distinct movements, that amounted to seventy-two movements in each second. Moreover, each of these notes was determined by the will to a chosen place, with a certain force at a certain time and with a certain duration. Therefore there were four distinct qualities in each of the seventy-two movements in each second. Such were the transmissions outward. And all these were conditional on conscious-ness of the position of each hand and each finger before it was moved, and by moving it of the sound and the force of each touch. Therefore, there were three conscious sensations for every note. There were seventy-two transmissions per second, one hundred and forty-four to and fro, and those with constant change of quality. And then, added to that, all the time the memory was remembering each note in its time and place, and was exercised in the comparison of it with others that came before. So that it would be fair to say that there were not less than two hundred transmissions of nerve force to and from the brain, and every second, and during the whole time judgment was exercised as to whether the music was played better or worse than before, and the mind was conscious of some of the emotions which the music was intended to inspire. It seems that can hardly be anything more wonderful than this, and so far as human mechanism is concerned there cannot be, but for wonder again look at the human body. According to a French physiologist the work of the ordinary human body makes 330 strokes in one second; the wing of the bumble bee, 240; the honey bee, 190; the wasp, 110; and the dragon fly, 28. To the students of science these questions will prove of special interest.

STATE PRISON STATISTICS.

The census of the Wisconsin state prison has been taken for the eleventh national census, and the statistics will prove of special interest to the general readers. In January the population of the prison was as follows—

Males	507
Females	10
Total	517
The military record of the prisoners is given thus:
In the U. S. Army	44
In the Confederate Army	2
In both armies	1
Total	47
Youth seems to be prolific in crime as the following table will show:
Under 20 years	31
Between 20 and 30	204
Between 30 and 40	141
Between 40 and 50	67
Between 50 and 60	26
Between 60 and 70	2
Between 70 and 80	1
Between 80 and 90	2
Total	523
Nearly three-fourths of the convicts are single, the table being as follows:
Single	313
Married	12
Widowed	3
Divorced	2
Total	523

The literacy of the prison is not so low as one might suppose, as the educational statistics show that there are—

Able to read and write English	176
Able to read German only	40
The principal crimes for which the prisoners were convicted are as follows:
Adultery	12
Burglary	126
Forgery	20
Horse Stealing	20
Larceny	164
Murder 1st degree	14
Murder 2d degree	23
Rape	2

The terms of sentence show that there are in the prison—

Life members	66
Twenty years	12
Fifteen years	12
Ten years	14
Five years	14
Three years	50
Two years	73
Total	238

The number of times which prisoners served in state prior, as given by the prisoners themselves, is as follows:

First time	464
Second time	40
Third time	6
Fourth time	2
Fifth time	1
Sixth time	1

This habit of the prisoners before their conviction is a matter of general interest, and according to the testimony of the convicts when they reach the prison, the following table has been prepared:

Temperate	59
Moderate drinkers	135
Intemperate	189
Opium eaters	1

CIVIL SERVICE IN WISCONSIN.

Said a democrat the other day, "Harrison's record as a defender of the civil service in Wisconsin, beats anything Cleveland was ever guilty of." The man seemed as if he really meant what he said, but when pressed for a single instance in which Harrison was worse than Cleveland he was cornered. He could not illustrate by example wherein the civil service had been outraged by the republican administration, nor could he give a special instance in which Cleveland had improved the federal service in this state.

All democrats look at the removal of a democrat as a political crime. They believe in democratic bouncing republicans but not in republican bouncing democrats, so that any change the re-

THE RECORD OF CRIME.

The Execution of "Dick" Hawes at Birmingham, Alabama, on Yesterday.

LAST CHAPTER IN A CRIME THAT COST FIFTEEN LIVES.

Ex-Congressman Taulbee Shot Down in the National Capitol—Other Criminal Matters.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 1.—Dick Hawes was hanged here yesterday for the murder of his wife and two children on Dec. 4, 1884. He spent the night restlessly and ate sparingly in the morning, but when the time for the execution arrived he was calm, cool and collected. He walked to the gallows with a steady step, not a muscle of his face quivering or showing signs of emotion.

Accompanied by the sheriff and his spiritual adviser he went to the scaffold. He made a statement that his previous confession was true, and he paid John Wylie, a negro laborer, $200 to put his wife and children out of the way, before he was hanged. He refused to leave, as she had promised him to be with him in the event of his being hanged. The trap fell at 12:30 and life was extinct in thirteen minutes.

Hawes' crime was for the murder of his wife and two children, May and Irene. Tuesday morning, Dec. 4, 1884, the body of May was found floating in an artificial lake at East Lake, a pleasure resort, six miles from this city, but it was not identified until the next day. Hawes was arrested the same night while passing through Birmingham on his way to Georgia to see his mother.

By the direction of the coroner the lake was drained and the bodies of Mrs. Hawes and little Irene, heavily weighted with railroad iron, were found on the bottom. The finding of Mrs. Hawes' corpse inflamed the public mind to a state of frenzy, and all day on Saturday, Dec. 4, there were scenes of trouble. By nightfall the situation was so grave that Sheriff J. S. Smith summoned a posse to defend the jail in case of attack. By midnight a mob of several thousand men had assembled in the vicinity of the jail, clamoring for revenge.

The man who had ordered the shooting of his wife and two little daughters, Sheriff Smith had posted a big detachment of deputies in the second story of both the old and new jail and in the streets. The mob who had gathered with Winchester rifles. As the mob approached the mouth of the alley leading to the jail the sheriff ordered his deputies to fire on them. The officers opened fire, nor did they cease shooting until the mob had fled. The warning was not heeded. As the angry mob rushed up the alley the sheriff ordered his deputies to fire on them. The officers opened fire, nor did they cease shooting until the mob had fled. The warning was not heeded. As the angry mob rushed up the alley the sheriff ordered his deputies to fire on them. The officers opened fire, nor did they cease shooting until the mob had fled.

Both men are Kentuckians, and the trouble was caused by the ex-Congressman pulling the correspondent's nose for publishing certain statements in regard to him. The shooting occurred just outside the Capitol, near the south-eastern entrance to the building. Taulbee was shot in the head, but it is not known yet how serious a wound was inflicted. Kincaid is a slightly-built, inoffensive-looking man of about 35 years of age. He was formerly a Judge in one of the Louisville courts, and his family is one of the best known in Kentucky. He has a wide acquaintance in social circles here and has spent considerable of his time in attending receptions, parties and other society events.

FARMER CURREY WAS GAMBLED.

An Attempt to Rob an Old Man Followed by His Courage.

MONTICELLO, Ill., March 1.—An attempt was made by George A. Miller and others to rob William Currey, whose home is near La Place. Currey, who is an old man, had recently received several hundred dollars, of which fact his assailants must have been aware. He went to his home and called him to the door, when Miller struck him on the head with a club, which cut open his skull and seriously hurt his brain. He fell back into the house he closed the door, and, securing his gun, he made his assailants retreat. George A. Miller was arrested and placed under $1,000 bond for his appearance before the grand jury.

THINKS HE HAS SILENT.

The Abandoned Cashier Said to Have Been Caught in Oregon.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 1.—A report reaches here that Sheriff Delger, of Winlock, has arrested Silcott, the defaulting cashier of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, at Toledo, a town on the line of the Northern Pacific railroad between here and Tacoma. The report states that Silcott had been palming himself off as an engineer in the employ of the Southern Pacific company.

Called It Justifiable Homicide.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 1.—Ed Finley, who shot and killed Joseph Carr, was arraigned before a justice and discharged. The justice said the killing was justifiable homicide, as it was proven that Carr had been criminally intimate with Mrs. Finley and had repeatedly threatened to take her husband's life.

Killed for Cutting the Levee.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 1.—Five persons in Chicot county, Arkansas, attempted to cut the levee night before last. Three of the party, two white men and one negro, were killed and two escaped.

Louisa M. Alcott's Will.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 1.—A copy of the will of Louisa May Alcott, authoress, was received here yesterday from Concord Mass., by the register of wills. The deceased owned property in this city. By her will she directed that all of her manuscripts, including letters from her husband, and that no use be made of them in any way by any person.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

No General Improvement Noted During the Last Week.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Bradstreet's "State of Trade" says: Special telegrams do not report any material or widespread improvement in the state of trade. The slight gain in wheat prices is more than offset by dullness in iron, while unfavorable weather, heavy wagon roads and floods in the Ohio valley, all tend to further restrict the distribution of general merchandise, already less than reported one year ago. Coal is dull and the output restricted.

Reports of grain stocks east of the Rocky mountains continue to show a decrease in the total of December during January and February, promising to equal 9,000,000 bushels, against 8,000,000 bushels decrease last year, which will reduce wheat stocks March 1 to about what they were a year ago. The average decrease during three weeks of February has been nearly 1,000,000 bushels per week, against 700,000 bushels during the like weeks of 1889. Exports of wheat and flour as wheat from both coasts have increased again and are now nearly full, particularly from San Francisco.

The week's reported shipments equal 2,300,735 bushels, against 2,272,849 bushels last week and 1,384,594 bushels in the last week of February, 1889. The total foreign shipments from July to date is 70,124,046 bushels, against 62,755,096 bushels in the like portion of 1888-89. Pig iron has not revived yet. The week's output of pig iron was 1,600,000 tons, but new business thus far has not met expectations.

Dry goods jobbers at New York and Boston report trade fairly active. Cotton and woolen commodities and foreign dress goods are the most active. Agents report leading styles of cotton well sold up and a fair business in sport specialties. Prices are generally firm, with bleached cottons showing the greatest strength. Raw wool is dull with large stocks at Boston. Carpet wools are active and prices are weak, but not notably lower. Raw cotton is dull in all markets. The crop movement continues light but firm.

The business failures reported number 190 in the United States this week, against 253 last week and 243 this week last year. The total number of failures in the United States since Jan. 1 is 2,545, against 2,727 in 1889.

WILL NOT DELAY IT.

Work on St. John's Cathedral to Commence Next Year.

New York, March 1.—The defeat of New York for the world's fair and the death of John Jacob Astor have each an important bearing on the prospects for the erection of St. John's cathedral, the $200,000 Russian Episcopalians of New York contemplate erecting under Bishop Potter's direction. The site for the cathedral is part of the ground that was included in the world's fair site. It is intended to carry out the use of the world's fair committee and the commencement of the work on the cathedral was thought thereby to have been postponed for several years. Now the prospect is that the ground will be broken next year. Architects are at work daily making drawings and preparing plans for the cathedral, using for their price plans a basis for their work. The plans alone cost some $3,500. They all contemplate the use of the finest granite. John Jacob Astor's interest in the cathedral was very deep. He was, in deed, second only to Bishop Potter in urging on the preliminary steps for the cathedral, and had expected to spend two or three millions of dollars to put an Astor memorial in the church. His interest in the cathedral made it certain that there would be no lack of funds for the work when once begun.

A FAMILY WIPED OUT.

Father, Mother and Two Children Murdered by Outlaws.

OKLAHOMA, I. T., March 1.—News from Shawnee, a town thirty miles east of this city, says that the dead bodies of a man named Holmes, his wife and two children were found a few miles west of Shawnee. They had been working on the new Choctaw railroad and were returning to their claim a few miles from this city when they were killed. It is supposed for their money, by the outlaws that infest the Pottawatomie reservation. There is no clue to the assassins.

President Hill's Latest Enterprise.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 1.—J. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, proposes to run a line from Ancon, Mont., direct to San Francisco. The surveyors for the Great Northern are reported to have discovered a break in the Rocky mountains near Marysville, which would carry the way into a rich and fertile country, through which no road has ever penetrated.

Pete-Fight Near Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 1.—A prize fight took place west of the city between Tommy Burke of this city and Abel Lloyd of Brazil, twenty-seven rounds being fought, when it was declared a draw. Lloyd had the best of the sixteenth round, when Burke got his second wind and came to the scratch as fresh as a daisy and forced the fight until it was declared a draw.

Wonderful Adventure of a Child.

ELKHART, Ind., March 1.—A child, three years old, whose parents were asleep in a coach of the Lake Shore passenger train, walked out to the platform and fell off, when the train was a mile from this city and running at high speed. Aside from a slight scratch on its ear, the child sustained no injury by its fall.

A Blizzard in Texas.

AUSTIN, Texas, March 1.—A cold norther prevailed last night and the mercury went down to 20°. Growing crops, corn, oats, etc., were killed, and vegetation generally are destroyed, causing very serious loss to farmers. Hundreds of fig trees loaded with fruit were killed.

Large Price for a Mine.

HELENA, March 1.—The Northern Mining company, of London, deposited in bank here to-day $322,000 in part payment for the Elkhorn mine, in Jefferson county. This is the largest cash sale ever made in Montana. Montana men take $177,000 in stock.

THEY WILL NEVER KNOW.

How the Dakota Admission Business Was Mixed Up Intentionally.

The administration has a real mystery on hand, says the Washington Star, and the best of the joke is that it will remain a mystery until time shall be no more. North Dakota will seek in vain for testimony which shall indicate that it was admitted to the Union a few gratifying seconds in advance of South Dakota, and South Dakota can hunt until the crack of doom for evidence that would give to it a similar desirable seniority. The question of priority must forever remain unanswered, simply because no one can answer it.

When the president received from the state department the two proclamations, wanting only his signature, this question of priority at once came up, and it was found to be difficult to decide.

It was a grave situation for the president, and he evidently realized it, but he steered his way out without difficulty. The documents, unlooked at, were laid face downward on the desk on a sheet of paper, and then they were shuffled until the most expert trickster at cards could not have told which was which.

When this state of the game had been reached the proclamations were turned face upward, but protected from the gaze of every one by the sheet of paper on which they had been laid up and a fair business in sport specialties. Prices are generally firm, with bleached cottons showing the greatest strength. Raw wool is dull with large stocks at Boston. Carpet wools are active and prices are weak, but not notably lower. Raw cotton is dull in all markets. The crop movement continues light but firm.

The business failures reported number 190 in the United States this week, against 253 last week and 243 this week last year. The total number of failures in the United States since Jan. 1 is 2,545, against 2,727 in 1889.

ATZFEWOLD'S NEMESIS.

A Mysterious Woman Following the Prince and His Bride Over Europe.

As a matter of foreign news some strange information reaches us, says the New York Society Review, about the Prince and Princess Hatfield, who are traveling about on a tour in Europe. The princess is lavish with her gifts to those whom she calls her oldest friends, and a handsome clock arrived here the other day from Rome, accompanied by a letter containing the extraordinary information that the princess and her husband were being followed from city to city by a mysterious French beauty of the keen Parisian stamp.

This woman has only presented herself once to the princess in person, but both the prince and princess are in constant receipt of abusive letters and demands for money under threat of some unknown exposure. These threats are principally directed against the prince, who has yet taken no steps to prevent their annoyance.

Although their movements are persistently followed by this solitary Nemesis, she is not usually seen by them, and their notification of her presence with them on voyage is always by post.

WHAT DOES THE TERM LA GRIPPE MEAN?

La Grippe is a French term, which, translates into English, is "the cold,"

and is translated into German as,

"Die Grippekrankheit." The epidemic which is at present prostrating so many people in all parts of the civilized world is not a new disease, but an old one. The French name, which has been in use wherever French is spoken, for many years has been for the first time introduced into this country, and many people mistake it for a new disease. It is the same old disease, and the name is sister, and a true child of the slums.

Though she was never profane and her honesty was unimpeachable, she would not hesitate to fight any man or woman who offended or insulted her sister.
